- *User will have option to agree to the terms of submission which will lead to a submission faq page.

- The purpose of this application is to create a blog that would highlight the voices and topics that I find interesting and important. Voices and topics that are not normally listened to like minorities, POC creators, books/ media with inclusive characters and local events.
- A user would navigate to VonnyBlogs.com and land on the home page. The logo re-directs the user back to the home page on all pages linked.
- On the home page the user will see the weekly highlighted blog posts, and an aside area with the drop-down navigation as well as the blog logo. With the stretch feature added the user will be able to click the like button to like a post. The post will then update with the number of likes.
- If they click on the about me page, they will find a page with a little bit of info about myself and the website.
- If they click on the contact/ submission page, they will have the option to fill out the contact form where they can enter a message and have it emailed to me. There will also be a link to the blog post submission form for admin review.
- Once the user fills out the contact/submission form it will be emailed to myself.
- At the bottom of the submission form is the area to accept the terms of submissions. Which will link to the submission FAQ page.

- The administrator can use the administration page to sign up their account, log in and update, add or delete blog posts that will be added to the home page.
